

THE COOPERATOR EXPO NEW YORK

COVID-19

3/27/2020

The team here at The Cooperator shares your concerns about the coronavirus/COVID-19 outbreak. We are committed to looking out for the health and well being of our attendees, exhibitors, and event staff members.

We want to keep everyone safe, healthy, and able to focus on getting the most out of their day at the show. We are monitoring the situation and will be in touch with updates as they become available to us.

Rest assured that the show will go on -- and will deliver all the education, networking, business opportunities, and professional development that make The Cooperator Expo such a dynamic, must-attend event every year.

Please continue to follow our social channels, as well as the Expo website to get the latest updates for attendees and exhibitors. We look forward to seeing you at our next event.

Be safe.

Sincerely,

Yale Robbins
